

Electrical Engineer – Protection Specialist

PowerStudies.com is an electrical consulting firm that has been providing quality customer care to our many clients for over 22 years. We have offices in Seattle and San Francisco. Our company is known for our employee professionalism and superior customer service. We take pride in delivering advanced consulting services and enjoy a positive atmosphere where we live our values of integrity, honesty, initiative, and diversity. Our employees work in a relaxed and casual atmosphere with flexible work hours and optional telecommuting.

Our Company increases our client's facility efficiency, reliability, safety, and personnel protection. We specialize in Power Systems Studies and Power Quality Services for utility, industrial, and commercial clients both nationally and internationally. More information about our company can be found at www.PowerStudies.com

PowerStudies.com has an open position for an Electrical Engineer Protection Specialist in our San Francisco office. We are looking for full time Electrical Engineer- Protection Specialist. Duties will include performing various power system studies and power quality troubleshooting services.

All interested candidates should send their resumes to Robert Fuhr, P.E. at the following email address: fuhr@powerstudies.com

Requirements:

- 3-9 years relevant experience
- B.S. or M.S. degree in electrical engineering, or closely related field
- Familiarity with design of electrical power systems
- Familiarity with review of design drawings and specifications
- High level of computer competency
- Experience in performing power system studies using a variety of software packages such as SKM, ETAP, EasyPower, or EDSA.
- Ability to multitask and meet deadlines
- Positive and outgoing personality
- Team player with proven ability to communicate with clients and staff